Biosynthesis represents a new approach in Somatic Psychotherapy. Founder of Biosynthesis, Dr. David Boadella is one of the pioneers and leading representatives of work with the Body in Psychotherapy. Many aspects of Biosynthesis theories and Structure Work have close parallels in recent Neuroscience findings about mirror neurons, empathy, Developmental Trauma and self-regulation of the autonomic nervous system. His method has been developed with his wife Dr. Silvia Specht Boadella over the last 40 years and currently continues to expand its range of practical applications. In Brussels in October 1998, Biosynthesis was the first Body Psychotherapy method to receive scientific recognition from the European Association for Psychotherapy (EAP).

The Advanced Post Qualifying Diploma in Biosynthesis Somatic and Depth Psychology Oriented Psychotherapy will be awarded by the International Institute for Biosynthesis in Switzerland IIBS.

*3-Day Introductory Workshop to Biosynthesis
